Supt. of Show Room—H. E. Lovejoy.
Judges—O. W. Eggleston, Lyndonville, Vt.; George H. Coffin, Augusta; W. H. Whipple, Portland.

The Western Maine Poultry Association held its 12th annual exhibition at South Paris Grange Hall, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Several hundred choice birds have been shown, and considerably more catfish have arrived but for cold weather. Rhode Island Reds predominated and were a classed lot. The wire coops recently purchased by the Association gave the show a clear cut look. More will be added each year to replace the wooden cages in service since the association was organized. A peculiar circumstance was the introduction of many new exhibitors and the absence of several well known at the show during the past few years. Severe weather and big shows on the same dates account for this condition.

O. W. Eggleston of Lyndonville, the veteran poultry man and judge was on hand with two hundred birds and the largest exhibitor. He had at least forty varieties including geese, ducks and guinea hens.

Secretary C. Guy Buck of South Paris made a large showing with white buff, single and rose comb reds. His Dutch and White Giant rabbits were conspicuous in the display. President Ernest P. Crockett, South Paris had a fine line of Brahams and numerous rabbits. Leonard Doughty of Norway showed a choice lot of prize winning Brown Leghorns. A. B. Morse, South Paris entered an attractive line of white Rocks and Single Comb Rhode Island Reds. Reds in several classes were shown by Mrs. Guy Coffin of Mechanic Falls.

Frank A. Taylor and Crockett C. Record, South Paris had Single Comb Reds of quality. Frank A. Dunham, South Paris exhibited a number of fine Single Comb Reds, John E. Brock, West Paris, was on hand with several Rhode Island Reds from his well known strain.

A choice lot of White Wyandottes was shown by Frank E. Clark, South Paris. W. H. Whipple of Portland made a good showing with Columbian Wyandottes and Dark Cornish. Buff Leghorns were featured by Sawyer & Gilbert of Farmington. Mrs. Agnes Fuller Benson of South Paris had Single Comb Anconas and showed fine quality eggs from these birds in the egg contest. Mrs. George Stone, South Paris entered two beautiful bronze turkeys. Frank E. Field of Auburn entered a large display of Barred Rocks and captured numerous prizes and ribbons.

Secretary Buck handled the clerical work without assistance and was busy in the office every day tabulating the awards. Superintendent Harry E. Lovejoy put the show in fine running order at the start and kept everything up to the minute. Breeds and varieties were systematically arranged and properly placed for the convenience of patrons not familiar with the poultry business. George Tripp was in charge of feeding the birds and was faithful on that important job.

Wednesday was a busy day in the secretary's office with Margaret Davis of South Paris assisting on the clerical work. South Paris High School attended with the teachers Wednesday forenoon as invited guests of the Association. The grades viewed the exhibits Thursday.

A demonstration interesting to all poultry men was a display of "Red Flag Poultry and Dairy Feeds" with an assortment of literature free to all who wished. Clarence E. Tucker of Foxboro, Mass. was in charge.

The University of Maine Extension Division displayed a model of a poultry house used at the college and adapted to our variable climate.

The egg laying contest was carried on in a side room on the first floor. Contest started Sunday morning and closed Thursday night. Only four pens from a good list of entries went into competition, because of the severe weather.

Business Meeting
The annual business meeting was held in the secretary's office Wednesday evening. Many questions were discussed along the lines of reorganization and progress. Several new members were added to the rolls.

Secretary C. Guy Buck on behalf of the members presented President Ernest P. Crockett a silver cup valued at $15, as a token of appreciation for twelve years faithful service as an official for the Association. It was voted to hold another show, probably at Norway on dates in January, 1922. The following officers were elected:

BASKETBALL

E. L. H. S. 56; N. H. S. 36
Norway High School opened the season for Edward Little High School at Auburn Wednesday evening and suffered defeat in a busy contest.

Edward Little started a fast race and had eleven points against the Norways before the visitors located the basket. Both outfits improved as the game progressed to a point where Norway jumped into a rally, and had the quietest guessing for a time. A clever passing combination took the Auburn boys off their feet, but Norway was unable to see the ring clearly after working the ball in a scoring position. The first half closed with a score 33-17 in favor of Edward Little.

The battle waxed hot during the second set and Norway's fighting spirit was shown to advantage. Edward Little also braced up to meet the attack merrily and reeled off baskets. Both teams closed the game in a final flurry and gave a satisfactory exhibition to some four hundred spectators.

The score:

Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Farnham formerly of Norway, now residing on Gothic Street, South Paris, observed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Sunday, and received numerous calls from relatives and friends in honor of the occasion. They were presented flowers, potted plants, and pieces of gold, a wedding cake was made for the occasion by Mrs. Victor Whitman of Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnham were married at South Paris, Jan. 1, 1872, by Rev. Mr. Hatch at the Methodist parsonage. They lived for forty-five years in Norway and moved to South Paris about eighteen months ago.

They have two daughters, Edith, wife of Howard Knolly, and Ella, wife of Fred Hersey, both of Norway. All of whom were present Sunday. A young man, Norvel Brown, has also had a home with them since early life. There are eleven grandchildren.

Norway Chapter, women of Moosehart Legion, have elected their officers for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Faye Everett.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Oora Flood.
Sec.—Mrs. Alice Blaquiere.
Cor.—Mrs. Hattie Gammon.
Treas.—Mrs. Cora Dyer.
Supt.—Mrs. J. A. Everett.
S. Sec.—Mrs. Sadie Penick.

Treasury Saving Certificates
Postmaster DeCoster announces that he has received the new series of Treasury Saving certificates which have been adopted by the U. S. Treasury department. They are issued in two units of $25, and 100 maturity value. They mature in five years from the date of issue and are sold at the following prices: $20 for the $25, and $80 for the $100.

There is a provision made at guaranteed values, for the redemption of these certificates before the maturity if desired, in which case the holder receives interest at about 3 1/2 per cent. on his investment. The certificates are registered by the United States Treasury department and are therefore loss proof, burglar proof and fire proof.

Band Plays a Big Concert
The Norway Band is to put on a high class concert and dance at Norway Opera House probably sometime in February. Allie Cota as director is not satisfied to drag the organization through cold weather without some goal for the boys to strive for. New instruments are needed, and the latest selections must be bought if the repertory is to hit the crowd right next summer.

Ray Newton the well known flutist has joined the reed section and is using the new reed recently bought by the organization. Other instruments will be added until twenty players will be in position to give the citizens one big surprise.

Standard music by recognized composers is scheduled every week, with the proposed benefit concert in mind. Popular music of the better kind is also being worked up, to make a program attractive to the masses.

Generous contributions received from a few supporters, and an income from numerous engagements have kept the financial end alive. That the boys are out for money, is no secret. They won't beg so are going after honest cash by giving something in return. An entertainment after weeks of hard drilling, will set before the public a band worthy to show an appreciation of this organization which should be the pride of the Twin Towns.

It is needless to mention a salary list is unknown, and every penny goes directly into current expenses and extension of the organization.

Officers of Harry Rust Post
The officers of Harry Rust Post No. 64, G. A. R. were installed Tuesday evening, Jan. 3 by installing officer Moses E. Kimball. The officers are as follows:

Norway-Sturtevant

On Wednesday afternoon, January 4th at 3 o'clock occurred the marriage of Frank H. Noyes and Mrs. Bertha Sturtevant at the home of the brides daughter, Mrs. Donald B. Partridge, Main Street, Norway.

The ceremony was performed by an uncle of the bride, Dr. H. S. Whitman of Portland, under an arch of evergreen and chrysanthemums, in the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties. The bride was becomingly gowned in a traveling suit of navy blue with hat in harmony.

The living room was prettily decorated in green and white while the color scheme of the dining room was pink and white. After the ceremony a buffet lunch was served. The wedding cake was cut by the bride and served to the guests. The wedding cake was made and presented by Mrs. P. H. Noyes and was a thing of beauty with its handsome decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes left on the afternoon train for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they plan to pass the remainder of the winter; en route they will visit in Boston, Washington, D. C. and Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Noyes is the daughter of Mrs. Eliza Whitman and the late George W. Whitman and has always made her home in Norway and South Paris. For a number of years she was composer in the Advertiser office and for a time linotype operator. For the past few years she has been at home with her daughter, Mrs. Geneva Partridge. She is an attendant of the Universalist church and a member of Elizabeth Crockett Blage Tent D. of V.

Mr. Noyes is the son of the late Captain and Mrs. Amos Noyes of Norway and has always made his home in Norway except for a few winters spent in the South. He has been a prominent business man of Norway engaging in the grocery business, the dry goods business and in the clothing business at the Blue Stores of Norway and South Paris. He is the president of the Norway Savings Bank. Mr. Noyes is well known throughout this section of Maine and a host of friends are extending congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes are the recipients of many fine and useful wedding gifts. On their return from the South they will go to housekeeping at the Noyes home on Crescent St.

A Plea for the Helpless
Mr. Editor:—A few Sabbaths ago I heard a minister after making a statement of the success of the recent fair held by the women of Norway remarking that it was "time for the men to do something." I quite agree with him and in watching the many hours standing for hours, sometimes for nearly all day at the hitching post near the Grange hall, I cannot help thinking it was time, long ago for the men to have done something and that "something should have been the building of a shed where the horses coming into the village could be sheltered from the cold and snow.

No matter what the weather is, those poor creatures, man's best friends and most faithful servants, are obliged to stand for hours at a time heartlessly exposed to the elements, be it bitter cold, driving snow or sleet, with no words to voice their sufferings and often with not even a blanket to partially cover their shivering bodies.

If there is a humane society in this town it should get busy; if not, no time should be lost in forming one; and, at any rate the men of Norway should be humane enough to erect a comfortable shed over those hitching posts. Since coming to this town I have heard several people speak of the shame and cruelty of it but nothing seems to be done. Perhaps that also will be left to the women.

(Communication) TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

Pea Coal in Boston is down to $10.50 a ton. The wires evidently are not in working order between Boston and Portland for the wholesale coal dealers in the Forest City have given no indication that they have heard the news. How the mass of the people must love the profiteers and pap-suckers.—Comment.

The wholesale dealers in Chicago buy their pork of the farmers at the rate of six and seven cents a pound. That seems to be cheap enough. But what is the reason that bacon should be from forty to forty-five cents a pound? Choice cuts and steak are abnormally high. Is there any sound reason for it? It seems to be a clear case of overcharging.—Comment.

One at least of the new formed nations, Jugoo-Slavia is prospering. It's people under the inspiration of freedom, have gone to work with a will to repair the damages of war and provide themselves with the means to live on. Jugoo-Slavia has a population of some thirteen millions. The harvests for 1921 were abundant, so much so that there was a great surplus to sell to the people of the nations around it and they have been disposing of this surplus of agricultural produce at astonishingly low prices. Here is an example of what is coming when there are settled conditions in the lands which the war devastated. The markets of the world will be flooded with cheap products. To lengthen the period of the profiteers hold on the windpipe of the consumer, high tariffs will be strenuously urged.

But who to those who assist in enacting such measures. The recent overture in Canada, by which the high tariff government was thrown out of power and a liberal administration installed is a pointer as to what will take place in this country if the profiteer and booster of prices is to be further favored at the expense of the consumer. This matter is of more importance to the people than politics. In war time such conditions may be borne but in time of peace—never.

Germany as well as England is mining coal very much more cheaply than the United States. Welsh coal has been sold in New York the past month for $5. a ton. The British are taking the coal trade away from this country. A year ago in October we shipped 115,000 tons of coal to Cuba. Last October only 43,000 tons. It is stated that Welsh coal is supplanting Wyoming and Utah coal on the Pacific coast and in the Pacific islands.—News Item.

That's good news for the long suffering consumer. There will come a day and time when he won't be skinned. If the coal operators, railroads and wholesale dealers don't see the handwriting on the wall let them take the consequences. British coal at $6. a ton is better than American at $16. Perhaps when British coal floods the markets of the country, the profiteers and robber coal barons will be trying to secure form Congress a high tariff on foreign coal. There will be little danger of any law being passed in their interest. The opposition of the people who have been gouged by them will be too acute and strong for that.—Comment.

PIGEON HILL

Saturday, December 29, J. K. Denning passed his 82nd birthday very pleasantly. He received calls and many cards from distant relatives and friends. Three beautiful cakes attested to the love and skill of his daughters, Fannie March and Rose Denning and one from Mrs. John King. Mr. Denning is very active for 80 years, an age, still milks his share of 22 cows night and morning, cares for his pig, besides attending to all the business of a large farm, his mind being as clear as 50 years ago.

Alvin Strout was called home again on account of his grandfather being worse. Ralph Warren of Welchville is at present working for J. K. and C. K. Denning. They are harvesting ice.

Charles Denning was in Lewiston, Monday. Mrs. Herbert Mayberry is suffering from a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Morton and son Elmer called at the Pinnacle Farm, Sunday.

LOCKE'S MILLS

Mrs. W. H. Crockett installed the offices of Jefferson Chicker O. E. S. at Bryant's Pond, Friday evening.

Bert Goodwin of Norway was in town Sunday. Mrs. A. R. Stowell visited relatives at Bryant's Pond, Sunday.

Several scouts from West Paris have been at one of the camps for a few days. Donald Tebbets is out of town on business.

Frank Cummings has gone to Vanceboro, where he will have charge of a mill.

The infant son of Charles Larrabee and wife died Saturday from whooping cough and pneumonia.

WELCHVILLE

Mrs. A. E. K. Grover has been visiting at Mrs. Alton Grover's a few days. The Silver Top Wagon Party met with Mrs. Nell Kean, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wright are stopping at Clement Poland's. A. B. Grover from Oxford was through this place on his way to the Morey farm after pigs, recently.

Mrs. Bert Yeaton has been on the sick list, but is better. Percy Culbert and Alton Grover are driving team for Harold and Stanley Pratt.

Hazel Culbert and Ada Grover from Oxford visited Mrs. P. E. Culbert, Friday.

OXFORD

Fore Street Flora Cummings arrived at Merced, Calif. Dec. 22 having had a quiet, pleasant, comfortable trip of five days. She found her daughter, Mrs. James W. Bell and family fine.

P. W. Judkins, formerly of Norway, is in Merced, Calif. at present with his family but is commencing to build on his lot in Merced for future occupancy. The rainy season of Calif. is in full force with snow in the Mts. which one is supposed to believe as exceptional.

It isn't always true that the right hand knows what the left hand does. It frequently occurs that each knows that the other does nothing.

Many a man spoils a good joke by furnishing his own applause.

Never mind what others think of you. If you don't measure up in your own estimation what can you expect of them?

A man who can make a good excuse cannot do anything else well.

Are You Feeling Fine and Dandy?

IF NOT—WHY NOT? When you get up in the morning with a dark brown taste in your mouth, your tongue furred, and you feel headachy or nauseated, there must be a reason. Have you been overeating of rich and indigestible foods, too much pastry or sweets? Eating too fast, without chewing your food properly, or eating when overtired and unable to digest? If so, reform your habits, but don't try to drag through the day feeling blue and grumpy—get a bottle of "L.F." Atwood's Medicine and take a dose to assist Nature to get your digestive apparatus functioning properly. It acts promptly as a laxative and will help to free you of biliousness. 50 cents at your dealer's.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU LAY UP YOUR CAR THIS WINTER

Take or send your battery to the Willard Service Station to be stored until you need it. The additional security and convenience of leaving this to us far outweighs the moderate expense.

Dry storage is recommended for all batteries with wood separators, which have given a summer's service.

The plates will be disassembled and carefully stored in a dry place. In the spring, new separators are put in and the battery charged and put in condition for service.

Wet storage is recommended only for the Still Better Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation, or for a wood insulated battery that has been in service only three or four months.

If you do not intend to run your car this winter, write, telephone or call upon the Willard Service Station immediately for full particulars about the storage of your battery.

HAD NEVER FELT BETTER IN LIFE

"I'm So Strong I Believe I Could Chop Wood," Says Miss Comer—Praises Tanlac

"I think so much of Tanlac and what it has done for me that I must have told everybody in town about it," said Miss Cecilia Comer, 38 Park St., Keene, N. H. Miss Comer is a valued employee of the Keene Shoe Company, with which concern she has a record of twenty years loyal service.

"I had the 'flu' two years ago and after that I was so run down and weak I could hardly take care of my duties. The way I was getting along I actually don't believe I would have pulled through many more weeks if I hadn't got Tanlac. My stomach was so completely upset I could scarcely eat anything, and often I had to stay at home for three or four days at a time on account of an attack of indigestion. Every bite I ate hurt me, and I would blot until I was so short of breath I could hardly move. It was thought that I would have to go to the hospital for treatment, and I was awfully worried about my condition.

"However, Tanlac has relieved me of all those troubles, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. I eat just anything I want and never have a bit of pain or distress. I used to be so weak I could hardly hold my head up, but now I believe I could chop wood without getting tired. I certainly am grateful to Tanlac."

HARSH CATHARTICS ARE HARMFUL

SECURE RELIEF PLEASANTLY

Constipation results from the inability of the intestines to eliminate waste matter. Harsh cathartics and drugs of metallic origin force action; but they do not correct the cause of constipation. Early settlers treated constipation with natural laxatives. An extract was made from herbs, roots, bark and leaves with laxative qualities. Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative, is a compound of extracts from natural plants—a pure, mild, pleasant and effective old-fashioned, homemade laxative that for 71 years has been a favorite. Its regular use relieves constipation and fortifies the body against more serious illnesses. You are safe with Dr. True's Elixir. 40c, 60c, $1.20.

OF COURSE, nail a horse shoe over the barn door for good luck. At least it won't bring you bad luck. But, after all the best luck comes to people who enter the bank often; and walk up to the receiving window; then, walk right out again with satisfaction stamped on every feature. Try that for good luck—the kind that stays good.

JUSTICE MORRILL AND INJUNCTIONS

The following statement is Justice Morrill's views in the case of two men brought before him at Rumford; charged with criminal contempt of court. The case was an outcome of an alleged violation of an injunction issued Nov. 4, 1921 by Justice Morrill against ninety-five striking employees of the International Paper Co.

The statement follows:

STATE OF MAINE
Oxford County Sup. Jud. Court in Equity
Rumford, Monday, Jan. 2, 1922.
State of Maine

Nicola Bevelacqua and Fred Duca.

Both respondents having pleaded guilty, at the conclusion of the remarks of counsel upon the question of sentence the Court made the following statement:

"I regret very much to have occasion to come here again upon this matter. When I was here at the former hearing under contempt proceedings, I attempted to make very clear to all who were present in this room—and the room was crowded at that time—that the injunction which had been issued must stand until it was modified by the court and that it must be obeyed; that the power of this State was behind it. At that time I regarded the offense of the men who had violated that injunction as entitled to some leniency from me, that they had been open to a great deal of discussion, and while I had no question of the validity of the injunction then, I have no question of the validity of it now, in view of the recent decisions that have been handed down since that time, and I thought that some leniency was due to them. Now an appeal has been taken upon complaint of the violation of that injunction in a particular in which there can be no question on the direct act of violence against the employees of the International Paper Company; not only a direct violation of the injunction but a act of violence, more or less premeditated, an act which constitutes a crime under the criminal statutes of this State.

Now this proceeding, as counsel has said, is entirely distinct from proceedings under the criminal law. It is framed in order to vindicate the authority of the court. The former proceedings were framed to aid the International Paper Company in the preservation of their rights under the writ of injunction. These proceedings have been framed—and about that let me say to those who do not understand legal terms, I mean the paper which was presented to me—have been drawn so as to show a criminal contempt of court.

Now I think that counsel for the respondents have advised their clients in a very careful and at the same time in a very proper way, and I propose to take into consideration the fact that these men have listened to their counsel and have pleaded guilty to this complaint, and I propose further to take into consideration the difference in the degree of criminality which has been indicated by counsel for the complainant, in the acts which were committed. I think that the counsel for the complainant have adopted a very fair attitude in acquainting the counsel for these men with the case which they had against them, and I think they have shown a very conciliatory spirit, in stating to the court frankly the difference in the degree of the criminality of these men. The Court welcomes any such advice.

Now I came here with the idea that these men were, we might say, equally guilty, but there are facts stated here by counsel for the complainant which warrants the Court making some distinction between the cases of the two men. Now the respondent Duca is a naturalized American citizen. His participation in the overt acts in contempt of an injunction of the court, if persisted in, might show such an entire lack of appreciation of the duties of citizenship as to warrant the naturalization authorities in proceeding to have his naturalization papers revoked. Now when we admit men to citizenship, we insist that they show themselves well disposed to the laws of this country and that they shall not be men who have violated the laws. If they persist in violating the laws of the country in showing contempt for its institutions, that may be cause for revoking their rights under their naturalization proceedings.

Now I have taken into consideration as to Duca, and I want every naturalized American citizen to understand that. As to the other man Bevelacqua it appears that he is not a naturalized American citizen. Like many men of his nationality—and I take it he is an Italian from the name—he seems not to have understood the spirit under which we live in this country, the idea of obedience to law, the idea that a man has no right to take the law into his own hands. That is something that, unfortunately, some people have taken a long time to learn; that they do not seem to understand it. But Sunday.

It is useless for me to speak to them in regard to that at greater length. I tried to say before when I was here, all that was necessary. I tried to impress upon everybody the necessity of obeying the processes of the courts. Now I will say frankly that I had some consultation with my counsel before I came into the court room and took up this case, in which I was advised that the respondents were willing to plead guilty and I thought over what I should do. In regard to Duca, in view of the fact that he is a man who has a family dependent upon him for daily support, and in view of the fact that he is a naturalized American citizen and who may, if he persists in this course, have to face a petition to have his naturalization revoked, I have made up my mind that I will give him another chance and suspend sentence so far as he is concerned, during good behavior. If at any time his behavior is such that the confidence thus shown in him is found to be ill warranted, proceedings can issue at any time to bring him before the court for the offense under this complaint; so that, so far as he is concerned, I propose to suspend sentence. So far as Bevelacqua is concerned, I think that will not do; that a distinction should be made, and I shall impose upon him an imprisonment of two months in the county jail, to take effect at once. Mr. Clerk, you may impose the sentence."

The respondent Bevelacqua was thereupon sentenced to imprisonment for sixty days in the county jail.

GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."

STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

JOSEPH ANDREWS' MAINE VISIT

Pittsburg, Pa., Dear Advertiser:—West Fryeburg has changed but little in the more than 70 years that have elapsed since I, a little lad living in Lovell, made my first pilgrimage to that neighborhood to visit amongst my many relatives living there of my Andrews and Colby kindred. The fine productive intervals farms that remind me so much of the prairies of the west are still much the same. The roar and rumble of Swans Falls has never for a moment ceased its music. The liquid waters of the historic Saco still flow swiftly onward to the sea and the grand old mountains Kearsarge, Baldface, Spectled Mountain with their lesser peaks between, guarded by the giant peaks of the White Mountain Range, still stand and will ever stand as enduring monuments to the brave and patriotic people who long years ago left their Massachusetts homes and with gun, axe, scythe, and hoe migrated here and built new homes in the wilderness of Maine. With their guns they protected their homes from their savage foes and supplied their tables with the wild game of the forest. With their axe they laid low the giants of the forest, cleared their fields and prepared the fuel to cook their food and keep their cabins warm. With their scythe they cut whatever hay they needed to feed their stock from the wild grass that grew spontaneously upon the low marshy bottoms. And with their hoes they planted corn, wheat, rye and garden truck, and as is often the case "the pioneers built better than they knew." Most of the farm buildings now standing were old when I was a boy more than 70 years ago, and must have been built more than a hundred years ago. They are as sound today as when first built. Their only upkeep has been an occasional reshingling and repainting and as a rule most of the buildings have been kept in good repair and have a neat and homelike appearance.

Henry Andrews fine home has been in the Andrews family more than a hundred years. My father Abraham Andrews was born at Billerica, Mass., in 1774 and came to Lovell with his parents and three sisters when about ten years of age, where he grew to manhood and in 1794 married Hannah Barker also of Lovell by whom he had three sons, Abraham, Stephen and Solomon, and a babe that died in infancy. His first wife died in 1804 and he married second, Sally Frye of Fryeburg and soon after moved to Fryeburg and I am quite sure that all of the ten children by his second wife were born in the big old Andrews house, Hannah in 1806, then Dean, Susan F., Mary, George W., Sarah F., and I. I met Byron Hutchins on the street and promised him a call, but in the day time all the men were busy saving their hay crop, and at my age it is hard to go calling after night, and I failed to make the call. The fine brick house in which he lives looks just as fresh and tidy as when a boy I used to visit my sister Hannah and uncle Edmund Shirley and cousin Frank and daughter Susan, a bright young lady who died about 1860, whose home it was for many years. I do not remember what became of the Sam Carter house across the road from Byron's. The fine new stand of buildings where Charles Andrews and family lived until a few years ago has taken its place. Henry Andrews owns the house now and had it rented to a man who worked for him when he needed a hired man, but whose name I forget.

The old store building just beyond the Hutchins house was still standing and occupied by an aged lady who lived alone. In my boyhood days it was occupied as a store by Abraham Andrews, and Edmund Shirley and when I was a little boy and used to call at the store I was sometimes rewarded with a stick of candy or a glass of mead, which to my boyish fancy was a great treat. Further on down the road is the neat farm house where Nat Hardy and his wife used to live until the deaths a few years ago, and now occupied by strangers to me. In earlier years it was the home of John Holding and family. In the sixties he and his wife and the Carters sold out and moved to Nebraska.

The next on my list is B. W. McKen, and for the same reason that I did not call upon Mr. Hutchins I did not call on him and did not chance to meet him on the road. He and his wife and married son Harold occupy the place and are up to date farmers. Years ago Walker's father and mother were always on my calling list. They were a fine old couple and I enjoyed visiting with them very much indeed. At the Stephen Hardy place I did not call, as Stephen the only one I knew had been laid away in the near by cemetery and his nephew Walter had come into the possession of the farm. Stephen's father, Colonel Nat Hardy and wife and his brother Caleb who lived in the house just across the road and still standing were amongst my old time friends and I always called upon them when visiting in the neighborhood. James Meserve married Caleb's daughter, Sarah and lived on the farm. In the spring of 1887 I did not call. Meserve's chores for a week while he and family were away on a visit. I carried in the wood and water and looked after the stock at the barn and had a pleasant time visiting with the nice old gentleman.

The old time schoolhouse from which I graduated in the spring of 1867 after ten months of interesting study burned to the ground many years ago, and was replaced by the modern schoolhouse, now standing further down the road and on the opposite side, near where the Richard Colby house used to stand.

At this point I took a short recess, and started out for an eight mile health walk, across 22 St. bridge to Forbes St. where the new Boulevard of the Allies is being built, which I followed for more than a mile. I visited the lower floor of the great Kaufman's department store and bought a Menthol Inhaler then down 5th Ave. where I bought a much needed ribbon for my Corona Folding Typewriter, then home by the way of Point Bridge and Carson street where I arrived in due season none the worse for the walk. In this morning's mail I received a short letter from Mrs. Swan, which I give in full. "Happy Camp, Calif., Dec. 23, 1921—Mr. Joseph Andrews, Charley died today at 12:45. Will write particulars if you wish. Sincerely yours, Naomi Swan."

For the second time within a month the Three Rivers have reached the flood stage about 25 feet and then receded without doing much damage. I wish for all your readers a Happy New Year.

Joseph Andrews

When a tall young lady announces her engagement to an out-of-town young man, people inquire: "Is he as tall as she is?"

Susan F., John S., Caroline E., and Joseph S. the youngest who died Apr. 11, 1826. His second wife died soon after and in 1839 he married Abigail Colby of West Fryeburg, my mother. My sister Abbie A. was born there 31 years ago. Soon after that event my father sold out and moved to Chatham where I was born Jan. 11, 1844. The only gap in the occupancy of the place by an Andrews was when George Ballard, a son-in-law, occupied the place until Abraham Andrews died, Henry's father, took possession and the old homestead farm now occupied by the Andrews.

In the fall of 1860 I think it was that the fine Andrews mansion burned to the ground. I think it was the morning after Thanksgiving day. My sister and I were visiting friends in West Fryeburg and called at the house on our way to Uncle John Heath's where we spent the night. The next morning the house, son of Joseph Lang, who lived near called up to Uncle John's and told us that Abraham Andrews' house had burned that morning. I understood that the fire started from ashes left in some receptacle and placed in the long walk in the shed. It was a very still morning and the fire spread slowly fed by nearly two years supply of stove wood all piled for the stove and nicely corded up in the wood shed. I think it was Ben who mounted on horseback, rode with all speed down the road and through the Hutchins and Farrington neighborhood shouting fire at the top of his voice, and a large number of the neighbors were soon on the ground and the house was carried off with vigor. So slowly did the house burn that many from the village arrived in time to be of help. Mr. Swan who lived just across the river, went on foot away around by the village and arrived in time to assist. Every thing movable was saved, even to a years supply of potatoes nicely stored away in the stone arch in the cellar.

The J. T. Boutwell house just below Dean Ballard's was vacated then and the large family moved in there and lived until the new house was built.

My 12 half brothers and sisters who lived to grow up were so much older than I, "from 10 to 46 years" that I always called them uncles and aunts, for instance Uncle Abraham and Aunt Lydia Andrews. The winter of 1866-7 I boarded with Uncle Abraham and went to the country school taught for three months by Calvin Lewis, and a private school of one month taught by Shure Farrington of West Fryeburg. In the fall before the school began I helped Uncle Abraham get up his winter supply of wood. I, with the axe, went into the wood lot near by and cut down small birch trees and trimmed them out and helped to load them. One day we were startled by the dreaded cry of fire, fire, in a loud and frightened voice from the house, and a heavy volume of smoke was pouring out of the chimney. I dropped my axe and started for the house as fast as I could run, and Abraham, who was lame came hopping after as fast as he could. Just before I reached the house the skylight in the roof was opened and Aunt Lydia appeared. It was a false alarm. She smelt the smoke and heard the roar of the burning out chimney and told Mel to run and yell fire, which he did with a vengeance.

Of Mel Andrews, Henry's youngest brother, I wrote five years ago. He still keeps Bachelor's Hall and leads a free and independent life. His little farm is well tilled, and he raises lots of vegetables, garden truck and flowers. The day I called he was not at home, he was away helping some of his neighbors hay. He has also built a small one room cabin on the millbrook near the bridge, which he will occupy as his winter home. It is near the main travelled road and much more convenient when the snows of winter come. Henry and Mel are the only ones living of 11 in their father's family, and of 16 in my father's family. I, the baby, am the last survivor.

The Uncle John Webster farm and buildings remain much as I first remember them. I met the owner and his wife several times while at Henry's. He is their nearest living relative and I judge a good one. But I forget their name. I was well acquainted with Uncle John Webster and his wife and youngest son, John Alden, who married Mary O. Kelley, a cousin of mine.

The winter that I boarded with Uncle Abraham, Henry was helping his brother Dean log out in Sweden, and one day came home with very bad cold, and was spitting blood. As Henry was supposed to have weak lungs and had recently lost two grown up sisters, Aurelia, and Lydia, with that dread disease, consumption, his folks felt very much alarmed at his condition. Mrs. Webster had lung trouble, and she also had a cough remedy which she always kept on hand, which she made herself, and said she could not live without it. Aunt Lydia sent down and borrowed a bottle and the first dose that Henry took he said seemed to go just to the right spot and relieved him and in a short time he was well and back on his job again. I was so impressed with the action of this cough remedy that I wrote it down and took it with me to the west, and I know that once at least its use saved me from an early consumptive grave. While pioneering in Dakota in 1876 I took an awful cold which went to my left lung. I had night sweats, bad chills and a high fever, and had every symptom of consumption. I was 30 miles from a doctor and drug store, but my brother Simon was spending that winter in Yankton and I wrote to him and he sent me the drugs by mail. My wife made up the remedy, and in a week I was out of danger and nearly well. For the benefit of others I will write out the prescription which is both cheap and easily made. It may also be found in Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. It is: One ounce each of Boneset, Slippery Elm, Flax Seed, and Licorice; one half pound leaf sugar and one pint of molasses. The first four ingredients usually cost me a total of 15 cents at the drug store, too cheap to be popular, but all the same worth its weight in gold in an emergency.

We will now call for a little while at the next house down the road where Joseph Shirley used to live. Afterwards it was owned by Melvin Ballard who kept it for his summer home. Then it came into the possession of E. W. Burbank who owned it until a few years ago when owing to his and his wife's failing health he was compelled to break up housekeeping and he was taken to the soldiers home, and his wife, a helpless invalid, has been cared for by the town of Fryeburg. Mr. Burbank died not so very long ago and at his own request was buried in the West Fryeburg Cemetery. A sad ending to a life at one time promised to be a brilliant business career. His home heavily mortgaged, and his personal property was sold at auction by the town. The house and a few acres of intervals were bought by Dean Ballard, who kept the intervals and gave the buildings to his

The room was very prettily decorated, the class room being in pink and blue and the dining room in the holiday colors. The evening was spent socially with games and music. The presidents of the respective classes, Winifred Martin and Winzola Bonney cut these cakes. Miss Bonney poured cocoa and Miss Edwards, coffee. TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Norway Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit

A truthful statement of a Norway citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Norway citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

John F. Sampson, prop., painting estab. 174 Main street, Norway, says: "I was feeling run down and miserable for quite a long time. I was tired and nervous and my kidneys didn't act regularly. At times the secretions passed too frequently and then again they were scanty. My head ached night and day. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got three boxes at Stone's Drug Store. When I had finished taking them, the trouble left me and I have not been bothered since. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted likewise."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sampson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

indal, Mass., were in town Saturday to attend the funeral of their father, William Robinson.

Out of town people who came to attend the funeral of Mrs. Louise Richmond Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. George Austin, Charles Robinson, Mrs. Lina Carr and Mrs. Mary E. Robinson of Portland, Albert Parrott of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Alex Bencke of New York, Mrs. Arthur Moorehouse and Annie Moorehouse of Lewiston.
